Today I would like to watch the video about the zebras (from 2.30) and create your own fact file.

You can also get more information from these websites to help you develop your fact file.

Remember a fact file should contain all the key points and information about the animal. A fact file is a non-fiction piece of writing and therefore the information must be true and not opinion. Your writing must be in full sentences and contain as much information as possible. Add did you know boxes and pictures to make it more appealing to the reader.

Don't forget to send your work in so we can feature it on the daily blog!
